Defendants.)

This is a civil action filed pro se by a state prison inmate.¹ Following District Judge Seymour's rejection (Entry 13) of a Report and Recommendation previously issued by the undersigned in this case (Entry 9), Plaintiff responded to the most recent Order issued in this case in part by submitting an Amended Complaint naming two individual South Carolina Department of Corrections (SCDC) employees as additional Defendants. He retains "McCormick Correctional Institution" as a third Defendant.² In the Amended Complaint, as he had in the original Complaint (Entry 1), Plaintiff alleges that he was forced to endure significant pain and aggravation of a existing neck and leg problems when he was placed in an upper bunk in his cell at McCormick Correctional Institution and later fell off the top bunk. New to the case under the Amended Complaint are Plaintiff's allegations that the two SCDC employees were the ones with whom he had contact about his back problems and the need for a lower bunk during his period of incarceration at McCormick, but that they did not do anything to correct the problem.

¹ Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §636(b)(1), and D.S.C. Civ. R. 73.02(B)(2)(e), this magistrate judge is authorized to review all pretrial matters in such pro se cases and to submit findings and recommendations to the District Court. See 28 U.S.C. § § 1915(e); 1915A (as soon as possible after docketing, district courts should review prisoner cases to determine whether they are subject to summary dismissal).

² Plaintiff is now confined at Wateree River Correctional Institution. He does not contend that he is still being required to sleep on the top bunk at his current institution.

Although the most recent Order issued in this case specifically directed him to “[b]riefly state . . . the relief Plaintiff requests in the “relief” section [of the complaint form],”the Amended Complaint contains no request for relief from this Court. Plaintiff claims to be injured and claims that the Defendants are responsible for the injury, but does not seek any relief. Moreover, close review of the allegations that are present in the Amended Complaint discloses no basis on which this Court could even very liberally construe an implied request for relief. The entire “relief” portion of the form used for the Amended Complaint is totally blank and none of the factual allegations in the other portions of the form requests any form of relief that could, potentially, be available to Plaintiff. Thus, summary dismissal is proper.

Under established local procedure in this judicial district, a careful review has been made of Plaintiff’s pro se Complaint filed in this case. This review has been conducted pursuant to the procedural provisions of 28 U.S.C. § § 1915, 1915A, and the Prison Litigation Reform Act of 1996, and in light of the following precedents: Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25 (1992); Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 324-25 (1989); Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519 (1972); Nasim v. Warden, Md. House of Corr., 64 F.3d 951 (4th Cir. 1995)(en banc); Todd v. Baskerville, 712 F.2d 70 (4th Cir. 1983); Boyce v. Alizaduh, 595 F.2d 948 (4th Cir. 1979).

Pro se complaints are held to a less stringent standard than those drafted by attorneys, Gordon v. Leeke, 574 F.2d 1147, 1151 (4th Cir. 1978), and a federal district court is charged with liberally construing a complaint filed by a pro se litigant to allow the development of a potentially meritorious case. Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89 (2007); Hughes v. Rowe, 449 U.S. 5, 9-10 (1980); Cruz v. Beto, 405 U.S. 319 (1972). When a federal court is evaluating a pro se complaint, the plaintiff’s allegations are assumed to be true. Fine v. City of N. Y., 529 F.2d 70, 74 (2d Cir. 1975). Nevertheless, the requirement of liberal construction does not mean that this Court can ignore a clear failure in the pleading to allege facts which set forth a claim currently cognizable in a federal district court. Weller v. Dep't of Social Servs., 901 F.2d 387 (4th Cir. 1990). Even under this less stringent standard, however, the Amended Complaint filed in this case is subject to summary dismissal under the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B).

As stated above, Plaintiff has failed to request any relief or suggest to this Court any remedy for the alleged violations of his constitutional rights by state actors. A finding of liability but no remedy would, in effect, be rendering an advisory opinion. Such action is barred by Article III of the Constitution. Preiser v. Newkirk, 422 U.S. 395, 401 (1975); Boston Chapter, NAACP v. Beecher, 716 F.2d 931, 933 (1st Cir. 1983); see Norvell v. Sangre de Cristo Dev. Co., 519 F.2d 370, 375 (10th Cir. 1975) (federal courts do not render advisory opinions). The Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals faced an analogous situation in Pub. Serv. Co. v. EPA, 225 F.3d 1144 (10th Cir. 2000). In that case, addressing the plaintiff's failure to request specific relief, the court stated,

This court would violate Article III's prohibition against advisory opinions were it to do that which [the plaintiff] requests, i.e., issue a mere statement that the EPA's interpretation and application of the law was incorrect without ordering some related relief.

Id. at 1148 n. 4 (citing U. S. v. Burlington N. R.R., 200 F.3d 679, 699 (10th Cir. 1999)). Cf. James Madison Ltd. by Hecht v. Ludwig, 82 F.3d 1085, 1092 (D.C. Cir. 1996) (holding that, if the court were barred from granting the requested relief, its decision “would be an advisory opinion barred by Article III of the Constitution”). It is well settled that federal courts performing their duties of construing pro se pleadings are not required to be “mind readers” or “advocates” for state prisoners or pro se litigants. Beaudett v. City of Hampton, 775 F.2d 1274, 1278 (4th Cir. 1985); Gordon v. Leeke, 574 F.2d 1147, 1151 (4th Cir. 1978). In absence of a request for relief from Plaintiff, the Amended Complaint filed in this case is frivolous and subject to summary dismissal.

Recommendation

Accordingly, it is recommended that the District Court dismiss the Amended Complaint in this case without prejudice and without issuance and service of process. See Denton v. Hernandez; Neitzke v. Williams; Haines v. Kerner; Brown v. Briscoe, 998 F.2d 201, 202-04 (4th Cir. 1993); Boyce v. Alizaduh; Todd v. Baskerville, 712 F.2d at 74; see also 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B); 28 U.S.C. § 1915A (as soon as possible after docketing, district courts should review prisoner cases to determine whether they are subject to summary dismissal).

Plaintiff's attention is directed to the important notice on the next page.
